

Label designed by Marco Arman

Kerner

Kerner is obtained by crossing Riesling grapes white and red berry grape Vernatsch. It was developed in 1929 at the experimental station of Weinsberg in Germany. The cool climate and the large temperature ranges between day and night on the hills of the Cembra Valley give this wine a really intense aromatic scents.

VINES: Kerner in purity

VINEYARDS: Piazzòle (Lona-Lases)

CULTIVATION: Gujot between 500 and 650 mt.a.s.l

SOIL: Porphyritic origin

YIELD: 80 q.li/ha

FERMENTATION AND AGING: Steel at a controlled temperature, than in a bottle.

COLOUR: Pale yellow-green

FRAGRANCE: Pleasantly aromatic with complex fruity such as peach, tropical fruit and citrus fruit and floral (jasmine and white flowers).

TASTE: Strong flavor, good minerality and acidity.

SERVING SUGGESTIONS: Excellent as an aperitif or with cheeses and shellfish.

SERVING TEMPERATURE: 10-12 °C

“Give the Stropa” means bind the grape shoot to its support with a flexible willow branch. This act contains an ancient knowledge handed down from generations far away. It involves manual contact and skill that in the repetition adapts individually to the branch, the support, the wire.

The movement is new every time and is expressed in original and unique gestures, as often happens to the farmer.

It's care, attention and respect, as the art of loving demands.

Cembra Valley has an unmistakable landscape characterized by vineyards cultivated on daring terraces that seem to defy the laws of gravity with an suggestive alternation of hills and steep slopes in balance on the river Avisio, an environment with which man has faced sacrifice and humility.

The Società Agricola Zanotelli is part of the history of this territory with commitment and spirit of innovation to always get the best from their land. The whole process cultivation and harvesting, wine making and bottling is followed directly by experienced and prepared people. The respect for precious traditions guarantees the quality of the entire range of wines produced, from classic to new proposals. Zanotelli winery operates, keeping the original traits of the Land, but improving at the same time both agricultural and enological practices, aimed in obtaining top quality wines.